

I am not in favor of allowing cell phone usage on commercial aircraft. The environment is not conducive to this type of activity and it would be very annoying to most travelers. It might also prevent passengers from hearing important safety announcements.